DOWN MEMORY LANE:

These two photographs should bring back memories to a good many "old-timers." At left is a view of the Maple and Park avenue intersection when it boasted two water towers. Just as the smaller tank was replaced, so the larger standpipe will soon be razed, being replaced by the new Woodbine avenue tower. A close look at the car and truck on each side of the standpipes should give some indication of the date of the picture. Below: They were really enjoying the "good old summertime" at Merchantville Natatorium a couple of decades ago. The pool was located off Chestnut avenue, behind The Community News office on Norwood avenue.
